

Axis Health System Sliding Fee Discount Program Information

Axis Health System provides a Sliding Fee Discount Program to help individuals with little or no means to pay for healthcare services. Eligibility is based on family household size and gross income.

HOW TO APPLY

Please complete the application and include proof of income (POI) documents listed below. Bring the application and supporting information to the location where you receive care. Only one application per family/household is permitted.

If you currently do not have a source of income, please inform us. This does not exclude you from the program.

To apply for the Sliding Fee Discount, you must produce family/household proof of income (for anyone listed over the age of 18) to qualify.

Approved proof of income can include:

- Last 30 days of recent pay stubs (must be consecutive)
- Current filed tax return
- Current W-2
- Letter confirming unemployment
- Current Letter confirming Social Security income
- Letter from place of employment on company letterhead. The letter must include a contact name and phone number, and the gross amount earned for the time period.

Personal checks and bank statements are NOT accepted.

DEFINITIONS

- Family refers to a group of two or more people related by birth, marriage (including same-sex marriage), or adoption. It includes foster care or legal guardianships for people who live together.
- Household refers to members of a family (defined above), including non-family members that live with you and contributed income in the last calendar year.
- Income is total earnings over a given period that supports an individual or household unit based on a set of criteria.

Charges for services will be billed at the full fee until your application is approved. If you are approved, the charges will be adjusted accordingly.

If your application is denied, you may reapply if there has been a change in circumstances.
